

Therese Halbach Education Memorial Scholarship

The Therese Halbach Education Memorial Corporation is a non-profit corporation established in Therese's name to fund education and student grants within local school districts. Therese was called home early after a courageous battle with cancer.

She lived her life with class, dignity, and a desire to help young people achieve their dreams. As a local business owner, she employed and inspired the young to achieve their goals by working hard and furthering their education.

Therese was on the St. Ansgar Dollars for Scholars board for many years and believed such fund raising efforts removed financial burdens and helped students achieve their goals.

To continue her work and to honor her legacy, THEM seeks to continue to create financial opportunities for area students.
